REPORT BLOODSHED OCCURS IN MEXICAN RELIGIOUS TROUBLE

Mayor Lynched After
Attack On Priest—
Girl Arrested

MEXICO CITY, July 28.—Dispatches from Aguas Calientes published in the Graphico here, state that a group of citizens of the town of Nochistlan in the state of Zacatecas killed the mayor of their city because of his imprisoning a local priest, Humberto Cervantes.

Another account, also published in the Graphico stated that the mayor shot and killed the priest, and that the lynching was due to this act.

If the reports are confirmed the affair will mark the first bloodshed in Mexico's religious controversy.

MEXICO CITY, July 28.—Senorita Emma Padilla, 17-year-old daughter of a wealthy family, has been arrested by gendarmes in a villa at Guadalupe Hidalgo, charged with destroying government notices of the new religious laws which were placed on the walls of the famous Guadalupe Basilica in accordance with the decree of July 2.

Following her arrest late yesterday she was held in jail, her father being unable to obtain the required five hundred pesos bail until the banks opened today.

Catholic women of Mexico have appealed to the wife of President Calles to exercise influence with her husband to lessen the severity of the religious laws.

The religious situation has been somewhat changed by the determination of the government to take over churches when they are abandoned by the priests, inasmuch as this step is more likely to provoke religious strife than if the churches were left open to worshippers.

Natural observers here, however, are still convinced that serious disorders will not result from the putting into effect of the new laws.

Any elements attempting to instigate serious disorder would face the best equipped and disciplined army in the history of Mexico.

GOVERNOR REFUSES WHITTEMORE MERCY

BALTIMORE, Md., July 28.—Governor Albert C. Ritchie today refused to commute to life imprisonment the death sentence of Richard Reese Whittemore, gang leader and slayer of a Maryland penitentiary guard. Whittemore will be hanged Friday, August 13 for the murder of Robert H. Holtman. He killed Holtman in February, 1925, in escaping from the penitentiary.

The governor declined to interfere after a hearing in the executive offices at which Edgar Allen Poe, Whittemore's attorney, had argued for commutation and Mrs. Margaret Whittemore, the slayer's wife, had presented a petition for clemency bearing 2,000 signatures.

Whittemore was convicted in Baltimore last May after a jury at Buffalo, N. Y., had failed to agree on his guilt in the death of a bank messenger during a $93,000 daylight holdup in that city.

ENGLISH WORKING GIRL IS PRETTIER

LONDON, July 28.—London's working girls are yearly growing beautiful.

According to Sir Thomas Legge, Senior Medical Inspector of Factories, the last twenty years have shown a marked improvement in the beauty of the English working girl. He attributes the improvement to an open air life, more exercise and higher wages.

"In the last factory visited," he said, "I noted that seventy-two percent of the girls were good-looking—of the Rossetti, Burn-Jones or Greek type—twenty-eight percent were average looking and none at all were bad looking."

"The change in health is remarkable. Twenty years ago, records showed thirty to thirty-five percent of the working girls were anaemic. Today the figure is five percent."

NORWEGIAN GIRL IS SWIMMING CHANNEL

CAPE GRIS NEZ, France, July 28.—Olav Forstad, a Norwegian girl swimmer, began an attempt to swim the English channel at 10:43 a. m. today.

She was the second woman to dare the channel this year, Miss Mercedes Gleitz a London stenographer having started from Folkestone, Eng., Saturday, on a channel swim which took her nine miles from shore before rough water compelled her to abandon the attempt.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE MAY LEAD TO MURDER ARREST

Slater Expects Arrest Soon In Canton Case—Citizens To Meet Wednesday Night To Plan Action

CANTON, O., July 28.—A chain of circumstantial evidence which may lead to immediate arrest of a suspect was being forged here today by Ora Slater, leader of the investigation into the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher.

Slater was known to be confident that he is on the right track but refused to say if it led from the automobile found abandoned at Alliance Ohio, after the murder. Others working on the case, attached increasing importance to the car stolen in Pittsburgh and containing bullets similar to the one that killed Mellett.

Meanwhile the city awaited action of the committee of 100 citizens, which is to meet tonight with

DAYTON WILL HAVE $2,500,000 HOTEL ON LUDLOW STREET

A deal whereby the old General George H. Woods home at the southwest corner of Ludlow and Second St., Dayton, is to be acquired as a site for the proposed Wilbur Wright Hotel, had been virtually completed Tuesday night according to announcement in Dayton.

Preliminary plans announced were to the effect that the construction of the hotel will be underway by November 1 and will be completed by January 1, 1927.

Letters of incorporation for The Wilbur Wright Hotel Co., promoter of the project, were filed Tuesday in Columbus. The company will be incorporated with a capital stock of $2,500,000. The incorporators are: John A. McGee, Lee Warren, James, and Harry J. Williams, of Dayton; Harry L. Lynch, J. C. Meser and S. Ziegler, of Cincinnati.

The General Woods home is controlled by Abram Schachne and Harry I. Schenck. Negotiations for the sale of the property are to be completed as soon as the incorporation papers are received. The amount of money involved has not been announced. The proposed hotel will have a frontage of 200 feet on Ludlow St., and 100 feet on W. Second St. The ground floor of the building will house shops facing the street.

Announcement of plans for the hotel were made shortly after it was announced that the Louis K. Liggett Co. of New York, will go ahead with the construction of a two story building at Third and Main Sts., on the site of the old Phillips House.

TRIP POSTPONED

The scheduled visit of members of the Rotary Club and the wives to the Dayton Boy Scout camp at Cricket Hollow, along the Stillwater River, near Dayton, Tuesday night, was postponed indefinitely due to the heavy rainfall.

The visit was to be made by Rotarians at the invitation of the Dayton Scout Council.

DEMOCRATS PLAN TO FIGHT FRANK SMITH

CHICAGO, July 28.—Democrats already are seizing upon developments in the senate primary committee's investigation of Illinois politics to strike at the Republican majority of the senate.

A Democratic senator informed the United Press today that if Frank L. Smith, Republican, wins over George Brennan, Democrat, in the November inter-party senatorial race the fact that Smith spent $253,000 in his primary campaign will immediately be raised in the senate.

The amount expended by Smith's agencies is nearly $60,000 more than former senator Truman H. Newberry spent in Michigan and Newberry's expenditures were condemned by vote of the senate.

As the committee entered the third day of its inquiry, the known cost of the senatorial race was developed to $623,000 of which Smith spent $253,000; Senator William N. McKinley, (Smith's opponent for the Republican nomination), $250,000, and Brennan but $20,000.

SLAYER HAD ISSUED THREATS TO DRY MEN

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 28.—Frank Risler, who contends he killed a dry agent in defending the privacy of his home, had threatened to molest him, Roy V. Merryman, prosecutor, said today as he called the last of his witnesses in Risler's trial for the murder of John McCoy.

Merryman said he had several witnesses who would relate hearing Risler issue threats against dry raiders. Other witnesses summoned by the state will testify that beer and whiskey were found in the Risler home by other dry officers the day McCoy was killed.

Mrs. Risler, the only eye-witness to the McCoy shooting declared, "it was my husband's life or McCoy's." She told today that McCoy, refusing to explain what he was doing in the house, when found by Risler, had a revolver in his hand.

LAKE FOREST, Ill., July 28.—The Miami Valley Polo and Hunt Club polo team, Dayton, O., defeated the Oakbrook Country Club team of Hinsdale, Ill., at the Onwentsia Club in a preliminary round of the Central States championship tournament. The Dayton team took an early lead and won all the way.

REPUTED LEADER OF POISON BOOZE GANG TO GIVE CONFESSION

Expect "Higher Ups" To
Be Involved—More
Arrested

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 28.—Facing a first degree murder charge, James G. Voelker, 30, reputed leader of the Niagara Frontier "poison liquor" gang, was reported ready today to make a full confession, naming "higher ups" in the alcohol traffic.

Meanwhile, federal agents and police struck hard last night in an effort to round up lesser lights in the illicit trade. Six men were arrested including Carl Voelker, father of James.

CLEVELAND, July 28.—Poison liquor, responsible for thirty-seven deaths in Buffalo, killed Fred W. Reynolds, 41, and caused serious illness of his wife, Anna, 38, here early today.

Reynolds collapsed in front of a downtown theater last night and died this morning at the hospital where he was taken. Mrs. Reynolds was found in serious condition at her home.

Both had drunk liquor Mrs. Reynolds brought from Buffalo, she told physicians.

ONE CALL FOR HELP PREVENTS SUICIDES

BUDAPEST, July 28.—One call for help prevented two suicides here.

A man, the name of whom the police have not divulged, became desperate because of failure to obtain employment and decided to drown himself in the Danube.

Eluding the special anti-suicide patrols which the police keep on the river day and night, he jumped from one of the bridges which connect the twin cities of Buda and Pest.

Just as he struck the water he heard a cry for help and noticed another man struggling in the water. Being a good swimmer he hastened to rescue his unfortunate fellow-being.

On reaching shore he became so engrossed in assisting the police to resuscitate the man whom he had saved that he forgot his own suicidal intentions. The man who had been rescued announced on recovery that he also had jumped into the river in order to drown himself but had later changed his mind.

WARREN "BROKE" SO POLICE ABOLISHED

WARREN, O., July 28.—Warren City Council tonight passed an emergency measure abolishing the City Police Department and calling upon the Sheriff of Trumbull County to patrol the streets and enforce the laws of the city.

The measure declared that the city has no money with which to pay its patrolmen and that no money could be had from any source for that purpose.

Abolishment of the Police Department affects Police Chief B. J. Gillen, with twenty-six years' service as a member of the department and fourteen officers.

Police Inspector Harry E. Laukhart is under suspension pending a hearing on bribery charges made against him. The hearing is set for Friday.

Sheriff John Smith, of Trumbull County, assured members of the Council "he would do the best he could."

EPIDEMIC OF INVESTIGATIONS IN OHIO COMES IN WAKE OF ASSASSINATION OF CANTON EDITOR

COLUMBUS, O., July 28.—An epidemic of investigations in Ohio resulting in the suspension or arrest of public officials has followed the assassination of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, a survey by the United Press today disclosed.

Since suspension of Chief of Police S. A. Lengel, of Canton, on charges of being unduly connected with the Canton underworld. Inspector Harry Laukhart of Warren, Ohio, has been suspended on charges of accepting a bribe in exchange for "protection" for a Warren bootlegger.

NON-VOTER SCORED

CHICAGO, July 28.—"Corrupt voting is as evil as murder," Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri said in an address before the Missouri Society of Chicago last night.

"The age-old struggle for liberty," he said, "has all been to obtain the boon of freedom for us, to obtain the simple right to cast a ballot which registers our voice in naming those who shall fill the seats of our courts and who shall legislate for us."

"The man who would contaminate the use of that right is worse than the murderer with his hands dripping with blood. The assassin who strikes at that right from the shadows strikes with the dagger of the coward."

HEAVY RAIN BRINGS RELIEF TO FARMERS AFTER HEAT PERIOD

Streams Overflow Banks
—Xenians' Camp
Submerged

Continuous fourteen-hour rainfall Tuesday left Xenia dripping Wednesday.

It came as a welcome relief to agriculturists but assumed torrential proportions and caused the Little Miami River to overflow its banks in low places with resultant small damage.

The camp site of J. C. Ankeney and John William Jobe, this city, located on the John McCalmont farm one and a half miles north of Trebeins, was inundated by the swollen torrent of the Little Miami.

Rising from six to seven feet due to the heavy rain, the river escaped its banks at that point and surrounding low territory and submerged the camp in several feet of water.

Farmer's fields for a distance of almost thirty feet on either side of the stream were under several feet of water but the river had receded somewhat Wednesday.

It is estimated by one local authority that three and one-quarter inches of rain fell in Xenia during the day, probably the greatest of the year.

Rain began falling early Tuesday and continued uninterrupted until late Tuesday afternoon, filling gutters with gushing torrents, impeding traffic in the city and driving Xenians to shelter.

Coming after an intense heat spell, the downpour was heralded by farmers as a welcome relief from the dry weather which had endangered crops.

Cooling temperatures accompanied the rain.

Wednesday the sky was overcast and according to the weather experts, showers will not be unexpected Wednesday or Thursday.

SCHOOL VACATIONS OBJECT OF ATTACK

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—Lengthening of the vacation period, with the resultant loss of time from study, constitutes a fundamental error in the recent trend of education insofar as the student is concerned, in the opinion of Dr. Charles Custis Harrison, former Provost of the University of Pennsylvania.

"In recent years," said Dr. Harrison, "the average age of university graduates is between 21 and 22 years. This means that the majority of them are getting to work just about three years later than was the custom when I graduated, 64 years ago. At that time the academic year was divided into three terms, while the intervening vacations totaled only a little more than 11 weeks."

RELICS OF ANTIQUITY

In Africa, Central America, Asia, and the Orient they are digging up cities and palaces, and filling museums with examples of the work of long dead artists.

With the exception of the mounds, cliff dwellings, buried village sites and other surviving evidences of early Indian civilizations, the United States has no great archaeological treasures, but while other countries are digging for antiquities, this country, by its phenomenal progress and revolutionary changes, is making recent invention and manufacture by making them obsolete. While the rest of the world reckons antiquity in thousands of years, America adopts and discards all things so swiftly that only a century separates the innovation from the antique.

Public and private collections of antiques include countless rare objects which were in general use as recently as five decades ago. A few that come immediately to mind are the shoe scrapers used in pre-pavement days for cleaning mud from the shes upon entering the house or other buildings, early furniture styles, candle sticks, muzzle-loading rifles, hitching posts and rails, gas street lights, ox carts, the old type of country store and Main street mudholes.

MANY BIOGRAPHIES

Is it advertising or biography? Is it propaganda or an irresponsible impulse to pay tribute? Such are some of the questions raised by certain biographies that have recently appeared.

A perusal of the pages of those biographies, if without discount as to possible overrating, would convince any credulous reader that the subject is worthy of adoration.

Such publications may not be advertising or propaganda, but they are so timid that suspicion on that score is warranted.

Count no man happy until he is dead; so runs an ancient fragment of wisdom. And, it might be added, count no man biographically until he has "checked in" with death.

A GROUNDLESS FEAR

The medical director of the Life Extension Institute has just been telling fellow workers that the regular "he-man" style of American masculinity has retreated before the advance of a "soft," fluffly creature who lives longer but gets far less out of life and gives society less than the old-fashioned "rough-neck." He fears that unless a change is effected, modern men will be a sex of pink-and-whites, not worth much measured by the standards of two or three, or more generations ago.

Another fear is that even if his warning is taken as seriously as he seems to view it, at least a century will be needed to bring about the physical improvement he has in mind. He explains that the men of today live more years than their grandfathers only because they have been given extraordinary protection by science, and that the same means is the force which will pamper until the human race will not be able to take care of itself.

The medical director probably is giving himself unnecessary alarm over the future of the races. Evidences that the modern man has become a "soft," pink-and-white effeminate, are not so distributed that every one who runs may see, and interpret them as does the medical director. In fact the reverse may be claimed. On the strictly physical score the up-to-date race asks no odds of its ancestry. The world has more strong men than ever. The classical periods knew no such lists of women and girl athletes in all branches of physical excellence.

The man of today not only lives longer, thanks to science, but lives better, more happily, can hit harder, run faster, swim farther and when at work can turn out more than the producer of any age.

Today's Talk

THE OTHER FELLOW

You are your fellow's keeper only as you can help him. To speak ill or falsely about another, or to circulate mere hearsay is to pour poison into your own life. Most people have a hard enough time to extract happiness from their efforts without having someone else adding to their struggle with idle and pernicious gossip.

Think of the other fellow as yourself and you will not go far wrong in your estimate of him.

The other fellow is always needing a friend. At its best this is a friendly world. The child feels it and the grownup does, too.

Nothing inspires like the friendly pat on the back, the small word of encouragement, a little thoughtful gift or an unlooked for service rendered.

Remember that you are the other fellow!

The other fellow is watching you and you are watching him. You are possible friends.

By putting yourself in the other fellow's place you often change your whole attitude toward him, and he toward you.

No man is fit to pass judgment upon another. It's because no one as yet has ever been able to accurately read another's heart. A man is his heart.

What a world of other fellows! Each one hoping, striving, praying, believing—and working on and on.

Stay the other fellow and you won't have much trouble in this world.

THE LIGHT OF HOME

Much I've done and much I've seen

To many places I have been,

But to me there's no delight

Like the lights of home at night.

Porch globe twinkling from afar,

Window lights which softer are,

Shining through the inky gloom

From a peaceful happy room.

I've seen lights on ships at sea,

Lights that flash incessantly,

Beacon lamps, and those that shine

In some merchant's costly sign,

But my pulses faster beat

As I turn a little street

And I see the lights of home

Twinkling at me through the gloom.

Rest is here, they seem to say,

Peace is here to close the day

Love is waiting to embrace

You within this little place,

Hurry faster! Hurry in!

Where there's neither hate nor sin

Nor the cruelty and care

Of the greedy world out there.

Hurry in and sit you down,

And forget the noisy town.

Shut the door and put away

All the burdens of the day,

Come and let them stroke your cheek,

Let them laugh to hear you speak,

Here all selfish bickerings cease,

Here are love and rest and peace.

Should you accidentally get in in thickness, and dot over with

CEDARVILLE POSTOFFICE

John Paris, first postmaster of Cedarville, attended to the little mail that came to the village from the time the office was established in 1834 until he retired in 1844 in favor of A. W. Osborn. The first mail was brought from Xenia once a week, and was not received daily until 1845. In that year the stage coach line was inaugurated from that time to the coming of the railroad in the fore part of '50s, mail was brought to the village by stage.

Osborn held office until 1848 when he was succeeded by James Small for a six-month period. Small served in two years to Josiah Mitchell. The next incumbent, William S. Bratton, took up the duties in Taylor's administration, and served only a short time.

When President Pierce came into office in 1853, A. W. Osborn was again appointed and served during this administration. The Buchanan administration from 1857 to 1861, saw John Gibney, Jr., in charge of the village postoffice. He was followed by A. W. Osborn in 1861. John G. Winter succeeded Osborn, but resigned after six months of service.

This brings the history of the office up to 1867 when H. M. Boyd became postmaster. Boyd served two years, being followed in 1869 by H. D. Cline, a Civil War veteran. Cline held office longer than any of his predecessors, remaining in charge until he was replaced by James A. McMillan in 1885.

Rural free delivery from the Cedarville office was established in October, 1902, with three carriers. They were Oscar Satterfield, William A. Spencer and Hugh Stormont. All three used automobiles when road permitted. The post-office has been located in the town hall since 1888.

The Theatre

The Film Guild in New York City has been accomplishing much of interest if not actually of good in the interest of the picture art, by displaying old films.

Pictures made in the early days of the industry are taken from old-fashioned shelves and exhibited in the Guild theater to the interest and amusement of members. Recently an early picture starring Mary Pickford, called "Faces of Children," was shown and drew much comment.

This may be a bit irrelevant but the New Yorker tells of the Broadway popular song writer who received an invitation to attend a garden party given by a socially prominent New York matron at her Florida home.

The song writer, unused to social occasions, outfitted himself with spats, derby, long black morning coat and other habiliments in keeping. When he presented himself at the door of his hostess he was refused admission by the butler.

At the nearest telegraph station, the song composer sent his would-be hostess this telegram: "Don't expect me to be there if I ever ask you to tea."

SWIMMING STARS AT PHILADELPHIA FOR CHAMPION EVENTS

PHILADELPHIA, July 28—With every champion present to defend his laurels, the Men's National A. U. Swimming Championships, start their four day onslaught on the records today in the Sesqui-Centennial Lake pool.

The meet witnesses the return to active competition of Johnny Weismuller, the Illinois A. C. star, holder of the 100, 440 and 880 yard titles. Illness last winter compelled Johnny to abstain from competition and whether his forced layoff has affected his speed will be watched with concern as he is still the United States' one best bet for the 1928 Olympics.

Weismuller's strongest competitor for national titles last year, Harry Glancy, is present under the colors of the Penn A. C. of this city. Glancy, formerly star of the Cincinnati Y. M. C. A., will defend his title in the mile event and is also entered in the 100 meters, 440 and 880 yard.

Arnie Berg former European champ, now swimming for the Illinois A. C. is expected to make Glancy extend himself in the mile to retain the championship.

The Sesqui-Centennial Lake, is 350 yards long and 150 yards wide. In it two large platforms have been erected 100 meters apart, between which all events except diving will be held. Diving events will be held in a specially constructed tank.

The events are as follows, 100 meters free style; 440 yards, free style; 880 yards free style; one mile free style; 220 yards, back stroke; 440 yards, breast stroke; plain high dive, 30 feet; medley, 300 meters (100 meters breast stroke, 100 meters, back stroke, 100 meters, free style); fancy diving, 10 feet springboard, 14, 24 and 30 feet; 880-yard relay (4 men to team).

The Womens championships will take place in the lake, beginning August 4.

SMART REGIMENTAL INSIGNIAS GIVEN TO COMPANY L MEMBERS

Members of Company L, 147th Infantry, Ohio National Guard, have received their regimental distinctive insignias. They were received last Saturday and distributed immediately.

Issuance of the insignias is in compliance with a recent decision of the war department under which every regiment of the regular army, National Guard and organized reserve corps shall have a distinctive insignia or coat of arms. Each regiment's insignia is designed to commemorate the achievements of that regiment in past service.

Those received by Company L are of the 147th Infantry. They consist of a small shield nearly an inch and a half high and an inch wide. The background is a field of blue representing the Infantry and the shield is trimmed in silver, representing purity of purpose.

A red band crosses the shield diagonally from the upper left hand corner to the lower right with three silver eagles, one above the other, the eagles representing the Aisne sector in France and the red band the blood shed by members of the 147th in the battle of the Aisne.

In the upper right hand corner of the shield is the lion of Lorraine representing the regiment's service in Lorraine during the World War. Below the shield on a silver ribbon is the inscription "Cargoneux Guyoxim" taken from the Chippewa Indian language and meaning "always prepared."

Enlisted men wear these insignias on the collar of their blouse. Officers wear them on the shoulder loops of the shirt and blouse. Both officers and enlisted men wear them on the front of their service hats midway between the crease and the band.

Besides the coat of arms each regiment also is permitted to place above the insignia the crest of the state seal. All Ohio regiments wear above the insignia a crest consisting of a bundle of seventeen flaming gold arrows as Ohio was the seventeenth state admitted to the union. These arrows are bound by a wreath of buckeye leaves and centered by a bursting buckeye pod, the entire crest resting on a twisted rope of blue and silver.

These insignias, Captain L. V. John says, are unusually attractive and do much to add to the general appearance of the uniforms.

Captain John adds that word has also been received from the adjutant general's department legalizing the wearing of black ties by all enlisted men with the service shirt. Heretofore this has not been permitted. Addition of a black tie also increases the neatness of the uniform.

BREEDERS SHOULD EXHIBIT AT COUNTY FAIR SAYS BRYSON

"Whether you are a raiser of pure bred horses, cattle, hogs, sheep or poultry or any other livestock, your success as a breeder depends on your exhibiting at your own Greene County Fair, August 2-6," is the advice of Secretary J. Robert Bryson to agriculturists and exhibitors.

"The same is true of grains, fruits and vegetables or needlework," he continues. "If you will, with your mind's eye, survey the breeders of your own locality, you will find that it is only while showing at the various county and state fairs, that they stand on the pinnacle of success. The fair brings a finish to your efforts that otherwise would be lost as it is a goal to strive for and to attain."

"As an advertising medium it can not be excelled. You are showing your finished product to the public and the public at large is an unbiased judge."

"In this day of advertising, if you are a fancy breeder and do not take advantage of your own county fair, you are the direct loser and then too by this year."

BERNARD MACFADDEN

The average individual thinks one who is trying to fast is simply insane, and perhaps he cannot be blamed. Never having heard anything of this method of bodily house-cleaning, he cannot understand it.

As soon as one becomes free from the absolutely absurd as well as injurious notion that he must eat to keep up his strength, it becomes a self-evident proposition that he should never eat unless he is hungry. No matter whether he misses one meal, two meals, or many. Unless there is present real hunger, with its natural desire for plain, simple unstimulating and unseasoned foods, he should not eat.

No matter what any one may tell you, the Nature that is speaking within you is immeasurably more wise and learned, and far better understands how to keep your body in perfect health, than all the learned and wise men of the world. Hence, listen to the voice within and refuse to eat until the normal, healthy hunger returns. If you pass a meal time and lose your desire to eat, be assured that you will be benefitting yourself to miss that meal.

Another important fact to learn is that even though you feel a desire for food, do not eat unless you thoroughly enjoy it. It is absolutely essential to enjoy your food to get the best results.

It cannot be emphasized too strongly that over-feeding is always an injurious process, whether the over-eater is well or ill. When you eat more than you can digest and assimilate, the undigested portion in passing through the intestines constantly throws off poisons that are absorbed into the blood stream which they thus deplete and render impure. It might safely be affirmed that a great many more people die as a result of overeating than are carried off by famine. The nervous system is taxed and the reserve forces of the body called upon to get rid of this surplus of food. In addition, the poisons have the effect of deadening that experience of life, that makes a man full of vim, energy, snap and force. Over-eating renders impure the blood stream, thus making the body susceptible to disease. Then if the over-eater is suffering from an acute or chronic disease, the impure blood stream feeds and fosters the disease.

Life's Sunny Afternoon

"Grow old along with me,
The best is yet to be."

WITH her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women of middle age say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Those who have learned through their own experience the merit of this dependable medicine are enthusiastic in recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A woman in Nebraska was troubled with headaches for fifteen years. She writes, "I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have felt my health steadily improving. Today, after taking your medicine for almost a year and a half, I believe I can say the headaches have left me for it is seven months since I had the last one. I am continuing the Vegetable Compound. I am feeling fine now."

This woman is the mother of six children with a large house to care for. Her name is Mrs. ADOLPH BRATKE, 4316 South 13th St., South Omaha, Nebraska.

EARL PRUGH TO HEAD ATHLETICS AT PENNSYLVANIA COLLEGE

Earl E. Prugh, former head of the department of physical education at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, has signed a contract to become director of health education at Pennsylvania State Normal College, Indiana, Pa., assuming his new duties September 13, it is disclosed.

Prugh resigned at Antioch last spring after five years of service in which he placed the college athletics on a higher plane than ever before and is now engaged in summer school teaching at Columbia University, a post he has filled for the past several summers.

The new position also embodies a chair in the faculty at Penn State, and carries an annual salary of $4,000. The school has a population of 1,200 students. The college town of Indiana has a population of 10,000 and is located seventy miles northeast of Pittsburgh. It is also the birthplace of Matthew Stanley Quay.

Prugh expects to complete his work at Columbia about August 15. He has been making his home at Yonkers, eleven miles from Columbia, in a place on the Hudson River. His wife and children and his mother, Mrs. Mary Cornwell, London, are with him and en route to London by motor, they will stop off at Indiana and seek a residence for the coming college year.

Prugh is a prominent Ohio and Western Conference official. Prior to being connected with Antioch, he served as athletic director of several Ohio high schools including North High, of Columbus, and Troy High School. He is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University.

He was reported to have signed a contract to become director of athletics at Bowling Green High School beginning this year but it is now announced he will go to Pennsylvania instead. He also holds a degree from Columbia in physical education work, upon which he is a recognized authority.

ENERGETIC YOUNG MAYOR SAVES CITY FROM BANKRUPTCY

WASHBURN, Wis., July 28.—Paul Ungrodt, "Kid Mayor" of this little city of 3,700, having completed his first term has been returned to office by an almost unanimous vote of confidence.

Ungrodt, who was only twenty-three when first elected mayor in the spring of 1924 by a two to one vote over a man thrice his age, has so conducted municipal affairs that his administration will go unimpaired.

Graduating from Lawrence College, Washburn, Wis., in 1923, he returned to Washburn and went into his father's hardware store as joint manager. Ten months later he was swept into office on an overwhelming tide of public approval. The city's troubles were mostly of a financial nature and he went after them with youthful enthusiasm.

He and his councilmen served without salary and all expenses were cut to an absolute minimum. To raise necessary funds he boosted the tax rate to 7.15 per cent, the highest rate in the state. Tax collections were increased $12,000 and the city began to find its feet. The second year the rate was dropped to 5.15 per cent but it was still the highest in the state. By the use of unique advertising methods the Boy Mayor decreased delinquency ten per cent and exceeded the most optimistic estimate of tax collections by $5,000. Through such stringent measures the city's total debt of almost $100,000 was reduced about $25,000 in two years. The city is now on a firm financial footing for the first time since pre-war days.

In addition to his success as mayor, Ungrodt has been singularly successful in operating his father's hardware store. By progressive advertising and aggressive salesmanship he has brought about a great increase in sales volume. In 1924, when hardware merchants throughout the Northwest were suffering an average decrease in sales volume of five per cent, the Ungrodt store experienced a twenty-five per cent increase as well as showing the first net profit since the boom days of the war.

The Boy Mayor's remarkable success has gained such wide attention that he has been mentioned as a possible candidate for Congress from this district but his next step will probably be in to the state assembly.

Ungrodt believes implicitly in the introduction of business methods into the affairs of government. He says: "The voters control the situation. They can elect men of business ability with an unselfish interest in the duties connected with the office of government. Given the right personnel, any governmental body can adopt itself to business methods."

REAL BRYAN DOWNEY WILL MEET SPEEDY SPARKS IN DAYTON

DAYTON, O., July 28.—Because of a rumor that has been circulated among local fight fans to the effect that the Bryan Downey scheduled to meet Speedy Sparks, of Cincinnati in the main event at the McCabe arena Friday night is not the Bryan Downey who defeated Johnny Wilson for the midweight championship, officials of the McCabe Athletic Club today posted a certified check for $500 to be given to any charitable organization, if Downey isn't the person claimed.

The report became circulated Monday that another Bryan Downey was being brought here for the ring contest. The report probably started from the fact that Friday night's show is being offered at $1 flat for each seat, first come first served.

Arena officials stated they have given Downey a large guarantee for his appearance here and hold his signed contract and forfeit. The McCabe Club believes the fight will draw several thousand persons, which is their reason for offering the scrap at a price usually charged for general admission.

In addition to this bout there will be five preliminary events.

ESCAPES INJURY AS AUTO STRIKES TREE

Thomas McReynolds, 35, colored, Columbus, evidently bears a charmed life.

While returning to Columbus at 4 p. m., Tuesday, his automobile skidded on the slippery street, tried to climb a tree, whirled around and came to rest on the sidewalk at N. Detroit St. and Fairground Ave.

The front part was smashed, the steering wheel shattered and the rear end damaged in the crash but McReynolds escaped without a scratch.

He was arrested by Patrolman Fred Jones and Wednesday was at Police Headquarters awaiting arraignment before Mayor John W. Prugh on a charge of intoxication and a possibly second charge of driving an auto while intoxicated.

MASONIC TEMPLE WORK PROGRESSES

Laying of the foundation for the $55,000 annex to the new Masonic Temple in the Dodds Addition now under construction, is nearing completion. The brick-laying, next step in construction of the building, is expected to get under way shortly.

Members of the Masonic Temple Association believe work will have progressed to such an extent that the formal cornerstone laying exercises may be held within the next three weeks.

An appropriate program will be outlined for the occasion.

REPORT BLOODSHED OCCURS IN MEXICAN RELIGIOUS TROUBLE

Mayor Lynched After
Attack On Priest—
Girl Arrested

MEXICO CITY, July 28.—Dispatches from Aguas Calientes published in the Graphic here, state that a group of citizens of the town of Nochistlan in the state of Zacatecas killed the mayor of their city because of his imprisoning a local priest, Humberto Cervantes.

Another account, also published in the Graphic stated that the mayor shot and killed the priest, and that the lynching was due to this act. If the reports are confirmed the affair will mark the first bloodshed in Mexico's religious controversy.

MEXICO CITY, July 28.—Senorita Emma Padilla, 17-year-old daughter of a wealthy family, has been arrested by gendarmes in a villa at Guadalupe Hidalgo, charged with destroying government notices of the new religious laws which were placed on the walls of the famous Guadalupe Basilica in accordance with the decree of July 2.

Following her arrest late yesterday she was held in jail, her father being unable to obtain the required five hundred pesos bail until the banks opened today.

Catholic women of Mexico have appealed to the wife of President Calles to exercise influence with her husband to lessen the severity of the religious laws.

The religious situation has been somewhat changed by the determination of the government to take over churches when they are abandoned by the priests, inasmuch as this step is more likely to provoke religious strife than if the churches were left open to worshippers.

Natural observers here, however, are still convinced that serious disorders will not result from the putting into effect of the new laws. Any elements attempting to instigate serious disorder would face the best equipped and disciplined army in the history of Mexico.

GOVERNOR REFUSES WHITEMORE MERCY

BALTIMORE, Md., July 28.—Governor Albert C. Ritchie today refused to commute to life imprisonment the death sentence of Richard Reese Whitmore, gang leader and slayer of a Maryland penitentiary guard. Whitmore will be hanged Friday, August 13, for the murder of Robert H. Holtman. He killed Holtman in February, 1925, in escaping from the penitentiary.

The governor declined to interfere after a hearing in the executive offices at which Edgar Allen Poe, Whitmore's attorney, had argued for commutation and Mrs. Margaret Whitmore, the slayer's wife, had presented a petition for clemency bearing 2,000 signatures. Whitmore was convicted in Baltimore last May after a jury at Buffalo, N. Y., had failed to agree on his guilt in the death of a bank messenger during a $93,000 daylight holdup in that city.

ENGLISH WORKING GIRL IS PRETTIER

LONDON, July 28.—London's working girls are yearly growing beautiful.

According to Sir Thomas Legge, Senior Medical Inspector of Factories, the last twenty years have shown a marked improvement in the beauty of the English working girl. He attributes the improvement to an open air life, more exercise and higher wages.

"In the last factory visited," he said, "I noted that seventy-two percent of the girls were good-looking—of the Rossetti, Burn-Jones or Greek type—twenty-eight percent were average looking and none at all were bad looking."

"The change in health is remarkable. Twenty years ago, records showed thirty to thirty-five percent of the working girls were anaemic. Today the figure is five per cent."

NORWEGIAN GIRL IS SWIMMING CHANNEL

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE MAY LEAD TO MURDER ARREST

Slater Expects Arrest Soon In Canton Case—Citizens To Meet Wednesday Night To Plan Action

CANTON, O., July 28.—A chain of circumstantial evidence which may lead to immediate arrest of a suspect was being forged here today by Ora Slater, leader of the investigation into the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher.

Slater was known to be confident that he is on the right track but refused to say if it led from the automobile found abandoned at Alliance Ohio, after the murder. Others working on the case, attached increasing importance to the car stolen in Pittsburgh and containing bullets similar to the one that killed Mellett.

Meanwhile the city awaited action of the committee of 100 citizens, which is to meet tonight with

DAYTON WILL HAVE $2,500,000 HOTEL ON LUDLOW STREET

A deal whereby the old General George H. Woods home at the southwest corner of Ludlow and Second St., Dayton, is to be acquired as a site for the proposed Wilbur Wright Hotel, had been virtually completed Tuesday night according to announcement in Dayton.

Preliminary plans announced were to the effect that the construction of the hotel will be underway by November 1 and will be completed by January 1, 1927. Letters of incorporation for The Wilbur Wright Hotel Co., promoter of the project, were filed Tuesday in Columbus. The company will be incorporated with a capital stock of $2,500,000. The incorporators are: John A. McGee, Lee Warren, James, and Harry J. Williams, of Dayton; Harry L. Lynch, J. C. Meser and S. Ziegler, of Cincinnati.

The amount of money involved has not been announced. The proposed hotel will have a frontage of 200 feet on Ludlow St., and 100 feet on W. Second St. The ground floor of the building will house, shops facing the street.

Announcement of plans for the hotel were made shortly after it was announced that the Louis K. Liggett Co. of New York, will go ahead with the construction of a two story building at Third and Main Sts., on the site of the old Phillips House.

REPUTED LEADER OF POISON BOOZE GANG TO GIVE CONFESSION

Expect "Higher Ups" To
Be Involved—More

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 28.—Facing a first degree murder charge, James G. Voelker, 30, reputed leader of the Niagara Frontier "poison liquor" gang, was reported ready today to make a full confession, naming "higher ups" in the alcohol traffic.

Meanwhile, federal agents and police struck hard last night in an effort to round up lesser lights in the illicit trade. Six men were arrested including Carl Voelker, father of James.

CLEVELAND, July 28.—Poison liquor, responsible for thirty-seven deaths in Buffalo, killed Fred W. Reynolds, 41, and caused serious illness of his wife, Anna, 38, here early today.

Reynolds collapsed in front of a downtown theater last night and died this morning at the hospital where he was taken. Mrs. Reynolds was found in serious condition at her home.

Both had drunk liquor Mrs. Reynolds brought from Buffalo, she told physicians.

ONE CALL FOR HELP PREVENTS SUICIDES

BUDAPEST, July 28.—One call for help prevented two suicides here.

A man, the name of whom the police have not divulged, became desperate because of failure to obtain employment and decided to drown himself in the Danube. Eluding the special anti-suicide patrols which the police keep on the river day and night, he jumped from one of the bridges which connect the twin cities of Buda and Pest.

Just as he struck the water he heard a cry for help and noticed another man struggling in the water. Being a good swimmer he hastened to rescue his unfortunate fellow-being.

On reaching shore he became so engrossed in assisting the police to resuscitate the man whom he had saved that he forgot his own suicidal intentions. The man who had been rescued announced on recovery that he also had jumped into the river in order to drown himself but had later changed his mind.

WARREN "BROKE" SO POLICE ABOLISHED

WARREN, O., July 28.—Warren City Council tonight passed an emergency measure abolishing the City Police Department and calling upon the Sheriff of Trumbull County to patrol the streets and enforce the laws of the city.

The measure declared that the city has no money with which to pay its patrolmen and that no money could be had from any source for that purpose.

Abolishment of the Police Department affects Police Chief B. J. Gillen, with twenty-six years' service as a member of the department and fourteen officers.

Police Inspector Harry E. Laukhart is under suspension pending a hearing on bribery charges made against him. The hearing is set for Friday.

Sheriff John Smith, of Trumbull County, assured members of the Council "he would do the best he could."

EPIDEMIC OF INVESTIGATIONS IN OHIO COMES IN WAKE OF ASSASSINATION OF CANTON EDITOR

NON-VOTER SCORED

CHICAGO, July 28.—"Corrupt voting is as evil as murder," Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri said in an address before the Missouri Society of Chicago last night.

"The age-old struggle for liberty," he said, "has all been to obtain the boon of freedom for us, to obtain the simple right to cast a ballot which registers our voice in naming those who shall fill the seats of our courts and who shall legislate for us."

"The man who would contaminate the use of that right is worse than the murderer with his hands dripping with blood. The assassin who strikes at that right from the shadows strikes with the dagger of the coward."

HEAVY RAIN BRINGS RELIEF TO FARMERS AFTER HEAT PERIOD

Streams Overflow Banks
—Xenians' Camp
Submerged

Continuous fourteen-hour rainfall Tuesday left Xenia dripping Wednesday.

It came as a welcome relief to agriculturists but assumed torrential proportions and caused the Little Miami River to overflow its banks in low places with resultant small damage.

The camp site of J. C. Ankeney and John William Jobe, this city, located on the John McCalmont farm one and a half miles north of Trebels, was inundated by the swollen torrent of the Little Miami.

Rising from six to seven feet due to the heavy rain, the river escaped its banks at that point and surrounding low territory and submerged the camp in several feet of water.

Farmer's fields for a distance of almost thirty feet on either side of the stream were under several feet of water but the river had receded somewhat Wednesday.

It is estimated by one local authority that three and one-quarter inches of rain fell in Xenia during the day, probably the greatest of the year.

Rain began falling early Tuesday and continued uninterrupted until late Tuesday afternoon, filling gutters with gushing torrents, impeding traffic in the city and driving Xenians to shelter.

Coming after an intense heat spell, the downpour was heralded by farmers as a welcome relief from the dry weather which had endangered crops.

Cooling temperatures accompanied the rain.

Wednesday the sky was overcast and according to the weather experts, showers will not be unexpected Wednesday or Thursday.

SCHOOL VACATIONS OBJECT OF ATTACK

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—Lengthening of the vacation period, with the resultant loss of time from study, constitutes a fundamental error in the recent trend of education insofar as the student is concerned, in the opinion of Dr. Charles C. Harrison, former Provost of the University of Pennsylvania.

"In recent years," said Dr. Harrison, "the average age of university graduates is between 21 and 22 years. This means that the majority of them are getting to work just about three years later than was the custom when I graduated, 64 years ago. At that time the academic year was divided into three terms, while the intervening vacations totaled only a little more than 11 weeks."

RELICS OF ANTIQUITY

In Africa, Central America, Asia, and the Orient they are digging up cities and palaces, and filling museums with examples of the work of long dead artists.

With the exception of the mounds, cliff dwellings, buried village sites and other surviving evidences of early Indian civilizations, the United States has no great archaeological treasures, but while other countries are digging for antiquities, this country, by its phenomenal progress and revolutionary changes, is making recent invention and manufacture by making them obsolete. While the rest of the world reckons antiquity in thousands of years, America adopts and discards all things so swiftly that only a century separates the innovation from the antique.

Public and private collections of antiques include countless rare objects which were in general use as recently as five decades ago. A few that come immediately to mind are the shoe scrapers used in pre-pavement days for cleaning mud from the shoes upon entering the house or other buildings, early furniture styles, candle sticks, muzzle-loading rifles, hitching posts and rails, gas street lights, ox carts, the old type of country store and Main street mudholes.

MANY BIOGRAPHIES

Is it advertising or biography? Is it propaganda or an irrepressible impulse to pay tribute? Such are some of the questions raised by certain biographies that have recently appeared.

A perusal of the pages of those biographies, if without discount as to possible overrating, would convince any credulous reader that the subject is worthy of adoration.

Such publications may not be advertising or propaganda, but they are so timid that suspicion on that score is warranted.

Count no man happy until he is dead; so runs an ancient fragment of wisdom. And, it might be added, count no man biographically until he has "checked in" with death.

A GROUNDLESS FEAR

The medical director of the Life Extension Institute has just been telling fellow workers that the regular "he-man" style of American masculinity has retreated before the advance of a "soft," flabby creature who lives longer but gets far less out of life and gives society less than the old-fashioned "rough-neck." He fears that unless a change is effected, modern men will be a sex of pink-and-whites, not worth much measured by the standards of two or three, or more generations ago.

Another fear is that even if his warning is taken as seriously as he seems to view it, at least a century will be needed to bring about the physical improvement he has in mind. He explains that the men of today live more years than their grandfathers only because they have been given extraordinary protection by science, and that the same means is the force which will pamper until the human race will not be able to take care of itself.

The medical director probably is giving himself unnecessary alarm over the future of the races. Evidences that the modern man has become a "soft," pink-and-white effeminate, are not so distributed that every one who runs may see, and interpret them as does the medical director. In fact the reverse may be claimed. On the strictly physical score the up-to-date race asks no odds of its ancestry. The world has more strong men than ever. The classical periods knew no such lists of women and girl athletes in all branches of physical excellence.

The man of today not only lives longer, thanks to science, but lives better, more happily, can hit harder, run faster, swim farther and when at work can turn out more than the producer of any age.

Today's Talk

THE OTHER FELLOW

You are your brother's keeper only as you can help him. To speak ill or falsely about another, or to circulate mere hearsay is to pour poison into your own life. Most people have a hard enough time to extract happiness from their efforts without having someone else adding to their struggle with idle and pernicious gossip.

Think of the other fellow as yourself and you will not go far wrong in your estimate of him. The other fellow is always needing a friend. At its best this is a friendly world. The child feels it and the grownup does, too.

Nothing inspires like the friendly pat on the back, the small word of encouragement, a little thoughtful gift, or an unlooked for service rendered.

Remember that you are the other fellow!

The other fellow is watching you and you are watching him. You are possible friends.

By putting yourself in the other fellow's place you often change your whole attitude toward him, and he toward you.

No man is fit to pass judgment upon another. It is because no one as yet has ever been able to accurately read another's heart. A man is his heart.

What a world of other fellows! Each one hoping, striving, praying, believing—and working on and on.

Stay the other fellow and you won't have much trouble in this world.

LEMONGRASS PIE
In many home Lemon Sponge Pie is equally as popular as Lemon Meringue Pie—and it is infinitely less trouble for the housekeeper to make.

To Make One Under Crust: Sift one-fourth teaspoon of baking powder and one-fourth teaspoon of salt with three-quarters of a cup of pastry flour. Then, with two knives held like a pair of scissors (flat of blade to flat of blade, crossed), cut one-fourth of a cup of pure leaf lard into the dry mixture. Stir in enough cold water to form a stiff, moist dough (the exact amount of water is between one-third cupful and one-half cupful).

Should you accidentally get in too much water to form the stiff dough, it will do no harm to add a little more flour. Then toss the mass onto a generously-floured bread board, roll to one-third inch in thickness, and dot over with one-fourth cup of butter broken in tiny bits. (The little bits will, of course, be very close together.) Dredge the buttered dough with an additional one-fourth cup of pastry flour, then fold in from both ends, so as to form a long roll, and double this roll over so as to form a square.

Flouring your rolling pin, begin to roll the square of dough out into an nearly circular shape as possible. Roll it in thickness, then gently lift it onto an ungreased pie pan. Then pan it up measures nine inches across the top, seven inches across the bottom, and has flaring sides one and one-half inches high. A shallower pan should not be used for Lemon Sponge Pie, as the filling will rise because it contains stiffly-whipped egg whites.

After trimming off the over-hang ing edges of the pastry and sticking the crust all over with a fork (to allow for escape of steam when baking), the next step is to make your filling, as follows:

Lemon Sponge Filling: Into a medium-sized mixing bowl put two egg yolks. Beat them well, then stir into them two tablespoons of flour, one tablespoon of very soft butter, the rind and juice of one large lemon, and one cup of granulated sugar. Then fold in two stiffly-whipped egg whites and scrape the mixture at once into the unbaked under crust. Slip the pan into a hot oven, but reduce the temperature almost immediately to "medium," and let pie bake twenty minutes (in all). (Note: Many cooks would add from one-half cup to a cup of cold, stiff milk to this recipe, but I prefer my Lemon Sponge Pie without it.)

Tomorrow—Knitted Striped Sweater.

It wasn't so many years ago, that Henry L. Doherty was a newsboy on the streets of Columbus, Ohio. In those days he was glad to get a roof over his head and enough bed clothes to keep him warm at night.

The other day I was in Mr. Doherty's apartment atop the building at 60 Wall St., in the very heart of the world's financial district. This apartment is the most sumptuous in all New York. It overlooks the Battery and at night one may see the torch held high in the hand of Liberty, out in the bay.

Everything in this marvelous bachelor dwelling is operated electrically. When Mr. Doherty goes to bed under silken covers he does so in the privacy of an inner bedroom. But he is too wise to sleep in a closed room. So, once abed, he presses a button and slowly the bed moves across the floor, through a door and out on a sleeping porch high above Manhattan. In the morning, the button is pressed again and the bed moves back into the apartment. In winter it is "pretty slick" and not so bad in summer when, especially in that section of New York, heavy fogs are liable to swoop down on one unexpectedly.

Mr. Doherty (need it be said?) no longer sells papers. That is he doesn't sell newspapers, but he sell other kinds of paper in which bankers deal and is counted one of Gotham's gods of gold.

Superstitions thrive on this tale where Houdini is eternally battling psychic fakirs and phony palmists.

I was in a night club recently when business was at its peak. Every table was occupied and everybody seemed to crave food and that in a hurry. The head-waiter was doing his utmost to give good service but was handicapped by lack of sufficient help.

The gentlemen of color who was attending my party was approaching our table when—Bang!

He dropped the tray! Naturally, I looked for him to show embarrassment and chagrin. But he did nothing more than cuss under his breath and shrug his shoulders. At was the head waiter who heard his hair, the clumsy gargon walking away.

In time, another waiter came and served us.

"What became of our original waiter?" I asked the boss servant.

"Gone for the night," he replied. "Once they drop a tray they beat it believing they are fired. Couldn't get him to stay if I offered him a ten-dollar bonus. They're superstitious, waiters are."

I've never been a dressing room "hound"—one of those pests of the theatre who would rather see a play from back stage than from an orchestra seat—but I must confess a weakness for the dressing room of Henry Hull, who plays the lover in Belasco's big hit, "Lulu Belle." To sit and watch Hull make up for the half-breed negro part is one of the most fascinating experiences I've ever had. Ever since "Lulu Belle" opened months ago Hull and his valet have been experimenting with paints, oils and what-nots to get the right shade for what the actor calls a "high yellor." And now he's got it. Every night and at two or three matinees Hull strips to the waist and is "painted black" or rather "high yellor."

The change this makes in his appearance positively is beyond belief. But the one touch that makes the whole make-up a piece of art is made with what the girls call an "eye pencil" which he draws straight across the under part of his lower lip, and which gives Hull a negroid cast which deceives even members of the negro race. With that make-up and his aptness for negro dialect Hull would have no trouble "getting by" in Harlem.

Here all selfish bickerings cease, Here are love and rest and peace.

CEDARVILLE POSTOFFICE

John Paris, first postmaster of Cedarville, attended to the little mail that came to the village from the time the office was established in 1834 until he retired in 1844 in favor of A. W. Osborn. The first mail was brought from Xenia once a week, and was not received daily until 1845. In that year the stage coach line was inaugurated from that time to the coming of the railroad in the fore part of the '50s, mail was brought to the village by stage.

Osborn held office until 1848 when he was succeeded by James Torrence followed Small but we way in two years to Josiah Mitchell. The next incumbent, William S. Bratton, took up the arden in Taylor's administration, but served only a short time.

Woman Thinks She Can't Talk Enough

"I had gall stones for fourteen years and suffered severely from gas, colic, and indigestion. Doctors wanted me to go to the hospital but I took MAYR'S instead, and am now feeling fine and better than I ever did. I can't talk enough about this remedy." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and always practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Sayer's Drug Store and druggists everywhere. —Adv.

The Theatre

The Film Guild in New York City has been accomplishing much of interest if not actually of good in the interest of the picture art, by displaying old films.

Pictures made in the early days of the industry are taken from old-styled shelves and exhibited in the Guild theater to the interest and amusement of members. Recently an early picture starring Mary Pickford, called "Faces of Children," was shown and drew much comment.

This may be a bit irrelevant but the New Yorker tells of the Broadway popular song writer who received an invitation to attend a garden party given by a socially prominent New York matron at her Florida home.

The song writer, unused to social occasions, outfitted himself with spats, derby, long black morning coat and other habiliments in keeping. When he presented himself at the door of his hostess he was refused admission by the butler.

At the nearest telegraph station, the song composer sent his would-be hostess this telegram: "Don't expect me to be there if I ever ask you to tea." This column has given attention selected.

Just a little time and thought and you may be one of twelve persons who will receive free tickets for Thursday—the big day of the Fair.

Rules of Contest

At the head of each advertisement in this section is the name of something you will see at the Greene County Fair. The letters in the name in the article are all jumbled. Straighten out the letters to spell the name of the thing you would expect to see at a Fair. Call on the dealer in whose ad they appear and they may give you a tip on the correct answer.

On a single sheet of paper write the name of the advertiser and the correctly arranged name of the articles spelled from the jumbled letters.

Send your list to the Gazette office as soon as completed. Be sure your list is plainly signed with your name and address. The first twelve CORRECT answers will receive the free tickets. Address Contest Editor, Gazette Office. All answers must reach the Contest Editor not later than noon of Saturday, July 31st.

The advertisements with the corrected names will be published.

"Not Possible To Classify"

By Mack Sauer

A LITTLE PREACHING FOR TODAY

The Germans sank our steamers and tried to run the bluff; awhile we were but dreamers, but soon we had enough. We told the Kaiser Willie that we were coming over to knock his army silly and pasture on his clover. And so we started drilling a hundred thousand Yanks; our shells we started filling, and then we built some tanks.

And when our lads were leaving, we made a fond goodbye; we had them all believing their fame would never die. We told them they were scrapping to bring a day of peace, when armies would be napping and farmers raising geese. We slapped them on the shoulders and said "when you return, we'll make you office holders and give you praise to burn. Your jobs for us will be waiting, and you'll have friends galore; you'll have an A-1 rating at every kind of store."

And so they did their duty to save us from the Hun; they argued with the cooties and captured German guns. They helped to lick the Kaiser and knock him for a row. But now they're getting wiser—a great deal more they know.

Their pay was sawbucks thirty for every month of drill, they fought in trenches dirty and went for Kaiser Bill. They ate the army chowder and fought from morn till night; their guns were filled with powder and they were filled with fight.

(Refrain—Or Whatever You Call It)

Alas, alas we had our brass for handing out such chatter, for back in homes they scratched their domes and wondered what's the matter? Both bucks and gobs were out of jobs and got little praising; some girls they knew had not been true and kids were busy raising. Some lost their lives and yet their wives but seldom are remembered. Some lost an eye, and some a thigh, and some were most dismembered.

Oh, let's renew our promise true to those who fought our battles; let's sing their praise through all the days and see that they have chattle. Let's don't forget they paid the debt we owe a sunny France, so let us serve all who deserve and give them every chance.

HAVE WE?

- One thing should interest
- Every voter,
- Does Xenia
- Have a pulmotor?

I was in a store the other day when a lady came in to buy a shirt to wear on a campin' trip. It was the first shirt she ever bought for herself and she didn't know what size she wanted, nor how to get the shirt on. The bashful clerk stood back as I bravely said, "Just try the shirt on here lady, I'll help you pull it on." She looked at the wool shirt and then looked at me and said, "No, sir, you're not going to pull the wool over my eyes," so she tried it on without my assistance.

SMART REGIMENTAL INSIGNIAS GIVEN TO COMPANY L MEMBERS

Members of Company L, 147th Infantry, Ohio National Guard, have received their regimental distinctive insignias. They were received last Saturday and distributed immediately.

Issuance of the insignias is in compliance with a recent decision of the war department under which every regiment of the regular army, National Guard and organized reserve corps shall have a distinctive insignia or coat of arms. Each regiment's insignia is designed to commemorate the achievements of that regiment in past service.

Those received by Company L are of the 147th Infantry. They consist of a small shield nearly an inch and a half high and an inch wide. The background is a field of blue representing the Infantry and the shield is trimmed in silver, representing purity of purpose.

A red band crosses the shield diagonally from the upper left hand corner to the lower right with three silver eagles, one above the other, the eagles representing the Aisne sector in France and the red band the blood shed by members of the 147th in the battle of the Aisne.

In the upper right hand corner of the shield is the lion of Lorraine representing the regiment's service in Lorraine during the World War. Below the shield on a silver ribbon is the inscription "Cargoeck Guyoxim" taken from the Chippewa Indian language and meaning "always prepared."

Enlisted men wear these insignias on the collar of their blouse. Officers wear them on the shoulder loops of the shirt and blouse. Both officers and enlisted men wear them on the front of their service hats midway between the crease and the band.

Besides the coat of arms each regiment also is permitted to place above the insignia the crest of the state seal. All Ohio regiments wear above the insignia a crest consisting of a bundle of seventeen flaming gold arrows as Ohio was the seventeenth state admitted to the union. These arrows are bound by a wreath of Buckeye leaves and centered by a bursting Buckeye pod, the entire crest resting on a twisted rope of blue and silver.

These insignias, Captain L. V. John says, are unusually attractive and do much to add to the general appearance of the uniforms.

Captain John adds that word has also been received from the adjutant general's department legalizing the wearing of black ties by all enlisted men with the service shirt. Heretofore this has not been permitted. Addition of a black tie also increases the neatness of the uniform.

BREEDERS SHOULD EXHIBIT AT COUNTY FAIR SAYS BRYSON

"Whether you are a raiser of pure bred horses, cattle, hogs, sheep or poultry or any other live stock, your success as a breeder depends on your exhibiting at your own Greene County Fair, August 24," is the advice of Secretary J. Robert Bryson to agriculturists and exhibitors.

"The same is true of grains, fruits and vegetables or need work," he continues. "If you will, with your mind's eye, survey the breeders of your own locality, you will find that it is only while showing at the various county and state fairs, that they stand on the pinnacle of success. The fair brings a finish to your efforts that otherwise would be lost as it is a goal to strive for and to attain."

"As an advertising medium it can not be excelled. You are showing your finished product to the public and the public at large is an unbiased judge."

"In this day of advertising, if you are a fancy breeder and do not take advantage of your own county fair, you are the direct loser and then too by this year."

Health Hints
by the Father of Physical Culture

The average individual thinks one who is trying to fast is simply insane, and perhaps he cannot be blamed. Never having heard anything of this method of bodily house-cleaning, he cannot understand it.

As soon as one becomes free from the absolutely absurd as well as injurious notion that he must eat to keep up his strength, it becomes a self-evident proposition that he should never eat unless he is hungry. No matter whether he misses one meal, two meals, or many. Unless there is present real hunger, with its natural desire for plain, simple unstimulating and unseasoned foods, he should not eat. No matter what any one may tell you, the Nature that is speaking within you is immeasurably more wise and learned, and far better understands how to keep your body in perfect health, than all the learned and wise men of the world. Hence, listen to the voice within and refuse to eat until the normal, healthy hunger returns. If you pass a meal time and less your desire to eat, be assured that you will be benefitting yourself to miss that meal.

Another important fact to learn is that even though you feel a desire for food, do not eat unless you thoroughly enjoy it. It is absolutely essential to enjoy your food to get the best results.

It cannot be emphasized too strongly that over-feeding is always an injurious process, whether the over-eater is well or ill. When you eat more than you can digest and assimilate, the undigested portion in passing through the intestines constantly throws off poisons that are absorbed into the blood stream which they thus devitalize and render impure. It might safely be affirmed that a great many more people die as a result of over-eating than are carried off by famine. The nervous system is taxed and the reserve forces of the body called upon to get rid of this surplus of food. In addition, the poisons have the effect of deadening that exuberance of life that makes a man full of vim, energy, snap and force. Over-eating renders impure the blood stream, thus making the body susceptible to disease. Then if the over-eater is suffering from an acute or chronic disease, the impure blood stream feeds and fosters the disease.

Life's Sunny Afternoon

"Grow old along with me,
The best is yet to be."

WITH her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women of middle age say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Those who have learned through their own experience the merit of this dependable medicine are enthusiastic in recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A woman in Nebraska was troubled with headaches for fifteen years. She writes, "I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have felt my health steadily improving. Today, after taking your medicine for almost a year and a half, I believe I can say the headaches have left me for it is seven months since I had the last one. I am continuing the Vegetable Compound. I am feeling fine now."

This woman is the mother of six children with a large house to care for. Her name is MRS. ADOLPH BRATKE, 4316 South 13th St., South Omaha, Nebraska.

EARL PRUGH TO HEAD ATHLETICS AT PENNSYLVANIA COLLEGE

Earl E. Prugh, former head of the department of physical education at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, has signed a contract to become director of health education at Pennsylvania State Normal College, Indiana, Pa., assuming his new duties September 13, it is disclosed.

Prugh resigned at Antioch last spring after five years of service in which he placed the college athletics on a higher plane than ever before and is now engaged in summer school teaching at Columbia University, a post he has filled for the past several summers.

ENERGETIC YOUNG MAYOR SAVES CITY FROM BANKRUPTCY

WASHBURN, Wis., July 28.—Paul Ungrodt, "Kid Mayor" of this little city of 3,700, having completed his first term has been returned to office by an almost unanimous vote of confidence.

Ungrodt, who was only twenty-three when first elected mayor in the spring of 1924 by a two to one vote over a man thrice his age, has so conducted municipal affairs that his administration will go in-perpetrated.

Graduating from Lawrence College, the city has ever ex- to local history as the most re- lege, Appleton, Wis., in 1923, he returned to Washburn and went into his father's hardware store as joint manager. Ten months later he was swept into office on an overwhelming tide of public approval. The city's troubles were mostly of a financial nature and he went after them with youthful enthusiasm.

He and his councilmen served without salary and all expenses were cut to an absolute minimum. To raise necessary funds he boosted the tax rate to 7.15 per cent, the highest rate in the state. Tax collections were increased $12,000 and the city began to find its feet. The second year the rate was dropped to 5.15 per cent but it was still the highest in the state. By the use of unique ad- vertising methods the Boy Mayor decreased delinquency ten per cent and exceeded the most op- timistic estimate of tax collections by $5,000. Through such stringent measures the city's total debt of almost $100,000 was reduced about $25,000 in two years. The city is now on a firm financial foot- ing for the first time since pre- war days.

In addition to his success as mayor, Ungrodt has been singu- larly successful in operating his father's hardware store. By pro- gressive advertising and aggres- sive salesmanship he has brought about a great increase in sales volume. In 1924, when hardware merchants throughout the North- west were suffering an average decrease in sales volume of five per cent, the Ungrodt store ex- perience a twenty-five per cent increase as well as showing the first net profit since the boom days of the war.

The Boy Mayor's remarkable success has gained such wide at- tention that he has been mention- ed as a possible candidate for Congress from this district but his next step will probably be in- to the state assembly.

Ungrodt believes implicitly in the introduction of business meth- ods into the affairs of government. He says: "The voters control the situation. They can elect many of business ability with an unselfish interest in the duties connected with the officers of government. Given the right personnel, any governmental body can adopt it- self to business methods."

Thomas McReynolds, 35, col- ored, Columbus, evidently bears a charmed life.

While returning to Columbus at 4 p. m., Tuesday, his automobile skidded on the slippery street, tried to climb a tree, whirled around and came to rest on the sidewalk at N. Detroit St. and Fairground Ave.

The front part was smashed, the steering wheel shattered and the rear end damaged in the crash but McReynolds escaped without a scratch.

He was arrested by Patrolman Fred Jones and Wednesday was at Police Headquarters awaiting arraignment before Mayor John W. Prugh on a charge of intoxica- tion and a possible second charge of driving an auto while intoxicated.

The new position also embodies a chair in the faculty at Penn State, and carries an annual salary of $4,000. The school has an average of 1,200 students. The college town of Indiana has a popu- lation of 10,000 and is located seventy miles northeast of Pitts- burgh. It is also the birthplace of Matthew Stanley Quay.

Prugh expects to complete his work at Columbia about August 15. He has been making his home at Youkers, eleven miles from Columbia, in a place on the Hud- son River. His wife and children and his mother, Mrs. Mary Corn- well, London, are with him and en route to London by motor, they will stop off at Indiana and seek a residence for the coming col- lege year.

Prugh is a prominent Ohio and Western Conference official. Prior to being connected with An- tioch, he served as athletic di- rector of several Ohio high schools including North High, of Colum- bia, and Troy High School. He is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan Uni- versity.

He was reported to have signed a contract to become director of athletics at Bowling Green High School beginning this year but it is now announced he will go to Pennsylvania instead. He also holds a degree from Columbia in physical education work, upon which he is a recognized author- ity.

DAYTON, O., July 28.—Because of a rumor that has been circu- lated among local fight fans to the effect that the Bryan Downey scheduled to meet Speedy Sparks, of Cincinnati in the main event at the McCabe arena Friday night is not the Bryan Downey who de- feated Johnny Wilson for the mid- dleweight championship, officials of the McCabe Athletic Club today posted a certified check for $500 to be given to any charitable or- ganization, if Downey isn't the person claimed.

The report became circulated Monday that another Bryan Downey was being brought here for the ring contest. The report probab- ly started from the fact that Fri- day night's show is being offered at $1 flat for each seat, first come first served.

Arena officials stated they have given Downey a large guarantee for his appearance here and hold of his signed contract and forfeit. The McCabe Club believes the fight will draw several thousand persons, which is their reason for offering the scrap at a price usu- ally charged for general admission.

In addition to this bout there will be five preliminary events.

ARENA OFFICIALS STATED THEY HAVE GIVEN DOWNEY A LARGE GUARANTEE FOR HIS APPEARANCE HERE AND HOLD OF HIS SIGNED CONTRACT AND FORFEIT. THE MCCABE CLUB BELIEVES THE FIGHT WILL DRAW SEVERAL THOUSAND PERSONS, WHICH IS THEIR REASON FOR OFFERING THE SCRAP AT A PRICE USUALLY CHARGED FOR GENERAL ADMISSION.

MASONIC TEMPLE WORK PROGRESSES

Laying of the foundation for the $55,000 annex to the new Ma- sonic Temple in the Dodds Addi- tion now under construction, is nearing completion. The brick- laying, next step in construction of the building, is expected to get under way shortly.

Members of the Masonic Temple Association believe work will have progressed to such an extent that the formal cornerstone laying ex- ercises may be held within the next three weeks.

An appropriate program will be outlined for the occasion.

What a "drag" will do

A DRAG on your jimmy-pipe, loaded to the guards with Prince Albert, will give you an entirely new idea of how good a pipe can taste when you put it on the proper diet. It will revise all your notions about the grand old pastime of pipe-smoking. Make the test!

This very day, get yourself a tidy red tin of P. A. and tuck a load into the busi-ness end of your pipe. Light up and pull that wonderful smoke up the stem. Notice how cool it tastes, whether you feed it fast or slow. Notice how sweet and mellow it is. Good old P. A.!

When you open the tin, the aroma that greets you is richly fragrant . . . the breath of real, honest-to-goodness tobacco. An aromatic promise of the smoke-pleasure to come. You'll never forget that taste when you light up. Nothing else is like it anywhere.

No matter how satisfied you think you are, give P. A. a whirl in your jimmy-pipe. Millions of smoke-happy men will tell you that P. A. will give you more pleasure to the cubic inch than any tobacco you ever smoked. There's a P. A. sunshine-shop just across the way!

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humi-dors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and punch removed by the Prince Albert process.

"Love Is Blind"

Mary bought a parlor lamp.
And trained it well no doubt;
For every time that Bob came in
That little lamp went out.

We heard of a flapper so modest
That she wore glasses because she was ashamed to expose her bare eyes.

Seeing Is Believing.

We believe you should see us for an examination if your eyes bother you.

A Lobster Can Regrow An Eye

It is said that a lobster can regrow an eye when it loses one. But when you lose an eye, it is gone forever.

A cross-eyed man may be absolutely straight although he looks crooked.

Science and Art

Fitting glasses to your eyes is an exact science. Designing the glasses to suit your style is an art.
Our service supplies your every need.
